Broke up the Breakfast. According to a story told by Mrs. Leila

S. Frost in Justice Meade's private room in Harlem Police Court on Tuesday, her husband got up an entertainment for their guests at breakfast last Sunday morning that she does not wish repeated.

repeated.

Her complaint was that her husband tried to kill her, and though the man denied the accusation the justice held him in $2,000 bonds. The woman, who is thirty-eight years old, was richly dressed when she appeared in court. Her husband is forty-two years old.

Denoing Marton Eugene B. A. White

Dancing Master Eugene B. A. White, his wife and child, of Mountainville, N. Y., and fourteen-year-old Clara Webb were breakfasting with the Frosts on last Sunday morning when, according to Mrs. Frost, her husband suddenly left the table and went into the kitchen, returning a moment later with a carving knife. He then seized her by the hair, drew her head down over the back of the chair and flourished the knife in front of her face.

The other people in the room sprang to their feet, but offered her no protec-tion. She broke away from the man and ran through several rooms, into which she tried to lock herself, but was prevented by her husband, who, she said, followed until she fell from exhaustion. Then he laughed and said he had been joking.

Mrs. Frost added that while she and her husband were playing chess that evening, having effected a reconciliation, he declared that he would kill

Mr. and Mrs. White and Clara Webb corroborated Mrs. Frost in her account of the morning proceedings.

Frost, who is a clothing salesman for a Brooklyn house, denied that he had tried to harm his wife or had even threatened her. He admitted having had the knife, and said he had proposed to the woman that she kill herself and that he would then end his own life.

Matthew Webb, Clara's brother, has a prom

Matthew Webb, Clara's brother, has a prominent part in the trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Frost, the husband said. He is a young lawyer whose attentions to Mrs. Frost are objected to by the husband.

Frost declared that when his wife inherited $16,000 from her mother a year ago she gave Webb her legal business, and since then she has spent half of the money. He said his wife had promised to keep away from the young man, but he had learned they were together on Saturday, and this knowledge led to his outburst on Sunday morning. He said his wife used opiates and was hysterical. He admitted that he drank.

While Dancing Msster White, who weighs about ninety pounds, was giving his testimony about ninety pounds, was giving his testimony the justice asked:—

"Did you see the assault?"
"Yes," was the reply.
"Did you interfere?"

"Why not? Would you have let him mur der his wife?" The dancing master smiled and answered :-

"A few years ago 1 interfered in a quarrel between husband and wife. I was arrested, arraigned before a police justice and dis-charged with the caution never to put my nose in family affairs other than my own.'

Mrs. Frost said that two years ago she be-longed to St. Elizabeth Guild and went to an entertainment given by it on Randall's Island. Her husband got home before she did. and when she arrived he knocked her down and when she arrived he was a worked with the weak which her repeatedly.

When it was announced that Frost would be held in $2,000 Mrs. Frost's brother, who lives in Westchester county, offered to sign the prisoner's bond, but the justice refused to accept him as a bondsman and the man was locked up. locked up.

AVOID THE SUN .- As a matter of fact the use of an umbrella is more needful from now until the first of September when the sun shines, so far as real protection for the carrier, be it man or woman, than when it rains. To walk through a shower has no damage in it, while to do it beneath blazing sunshine with the thermometer ranging near the 100, is to invite fatal effect. Drenching rains really have no evil in them, while blistering sunbeams have strokes in them that kill. Every man going to and from his dinner, from his place of employment to his home, should carry an umbrella during July and August as should everybody exposed to the sun during the heated season, if they can possibly do it. It is a precaution that frequently saves life. walk through a shower has no damage in it,
